

The mission of PRASAD CDHP is to improve the oral health of children by providing high-quality comprehensive dental services through education, prevention and treatment.

Untreated tooth decay can cause pain and infection that may lead to difficulty eating, speaking, socializing and sleeping, as well as poor overall health. Tooth decay can also adversely affect both school attendance and performance. A report issued by the U.S. Surgeon General estimated that more than 51 million school hours are lost annually due to dental-related illnesses.

Since the program's launch in 1998, the PRASAD CDHP mobile dental clinic and school-based health center has visited Sullivan County schools to provide dental health education and preventive and restorative dental services. The convenience of access to these services on school premises is an invaluable benefit in a county without public transportation and many low-income families.

In July 2020, we reopened our children's mobile dental clinic following the American Dental Association guidelines developed subsequent to the COVID-19 outbreak. Because school openings continued to be impacted, our mobile clinic was based at our headquarters in Ferndale, NY.

This year PRASAD CDHP received for the fifth time the Give Kids a Smile Award from the New York State Dental Foundation in recognition of our program's leadership and excellence in maintaining children's oral health.

In 2020 our program produced dental health education videos for schools. The dental clinic received 632 dental visits and performed 2,137 dental procedures.
